VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by E. E Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

Remember that the election for the ratification of the amended Constitution of North Carolina, will be held on the 2d., 3rd. and 4th of August next, throughout the State.

The Sentinel, the organ of Gov. Worth, very coolly announces the purpose which has been formed in Raleigh to defeat the new Constitution.—Standard.

The above is a total misapprehension. If any purpose has been formed in Raleigh to defeat the new Constitution, we have not heard of it. The connection of Gov. Worth's name with the matter is based upon a false impression and does him injustice, and we call upon the Standard to correct the impression sought to be made. If Gov. Worth has expressed any opinion as to the powers of the Convention or the new Constitution, that opinion has not been made public, or expressed to any one authorized to make it known. Indeed, regarding the Convention as an independent body and totally distinct from his office, he has not felt himself at liberty, unless directly approached, to give an opinion. We take the liberty, however, of saying that we have heard Gov. Worth express no opposition to the Constitution, as a whole, believing it in the main to be well arranged and meeting very nearly the wants of the people.

We will briefly state our own position:

1. As to the powers of the Convention, our mind has undergone no change as to the position we first took: that the power to call the Convention originated in the military authority of the President—that the exercise of this authority was proper in itself, taking into view the views of the President and the surrounding circumstances—not that a better way was already provided—that the election of the delegates was a simple acquiescence by the people, under the circumstances, and not what they would have done, if otherwise situated.

2. That the Convention was called for a specific purpose and limited in its powers—that when the President declared that specific purpose had been accomplished, as he did in his Peace proclamation, the powers of the Convention ceased, and it ought then to have adjourned.

3. The Convention, however, entertaining a different opinion, proceeded to engage in the work of revising, amending and re-writing the entire organic law, and in ordinary legislation. While we believed its proceedings in these respects were irregular and without proper warrant from the people, and in opposition to our usual forms, nevertheless, if what was done met the approbation of the people, we were ready to acquiesce in their decision.

4. Several of the ordinances passed, seemed in our judgment to be proper and necessary, to meet the exigencies of the times. The amended Constitution, we have said, was admirable in its form, and by far the larger portion we have endorsed as meeting our own views. We have stated that, in several respects, it was objectionable, but inasmuch as there was great danger, at the present time, of failing to get as good a Constitution, either by leaving the old one as it stood, or by the agency of a new Convention, we thought it safest and best, if the ratification by the people could give validity to the instrument, it should be ratified.

5. Now we find the doubts as to the powers of the Convention growing among the people, and many of the first legal minds of the State express the opinion that the ratification by the people cannot give it validity. From various quarters, East and West, we hear of growing opposition to the amended Constitution. This information, and only this, led to our remark in reference to the Lieutenant Governor. We repeat, if there is any purpose in this city to defeat the new Constitution, except that most persons intend to do as they please, and vote for or against it as they may elect, we do not know it.

In order that the people may act understandingly, we publish to-day by request, a letter from an able gentleman to a member of the late Convention. He takes ground broadly, that the Convention had no powers beyond those conferred by the President—that its acts in legislation, and amending the Constitution are illegitimate, and invalid, and that its acts cannot be made valid by the ratification of the people. This latter point does not appear so clear to us. Believing that the dangers which environ us, render it almost certain that we cannot hope to secure a Constitution so conservative and well guarded, from a new Convention, we are willing to accept this, if it can be rendered valid, notwithstanding the source whence it emanated and our objections to various points in the amended Constitution.

We differ with this writer on several points, but think his positions should be weighed. We invite discussion in these columns on this subject. Both sides shall and must be heard in a matter so vital.

Philadelphia Convention,—Sixth Congressional District.

The District Convention, which assembled in Salisbury, on yesterday, for the purpose of appointing two delegates from the Sixth District to the Philadelphia Convention, selected the Hon. Nat. Boyden, of Rowan, and Jos. H. Wilson, Esq., of Mecklenburg with the Hon. R. C. Puryear, of Yadkin, and James E. Kerr, of Rowan, as alternates.

THE PROCEEDINGS of the meeting in Chatham shall appear to-morrow.

Philadelphia Convention—"Test Oath."

We published on yesterday the programme or platform made by the Executive Committee of the National Union Club at Washington, in connection with the call or invitation to take seats in the Philadelphia Convention. We took it for granted that the call was made in good faith; we believe so still. The aforesaid platform we regard as the only condition required of those elected to the Convention. No outside issue or test will or ought to be allowed.

But the committee speaks of loyal delegates, and an attempt is made by some presses to make the impression that the test of loyalty, which will be made by the Convention, will be the Congressional "test oath." There is no foundation for this idea. In connection with this, also, the attempt is made to impress the public mind that President Johnson and Mr. Seward, and other leading Conservatives, make that oath a test of loyalty.

We defy any one to show unmistakably, that President Johnson has at any time, said or done any thing, which fixes definitely the position, that he regards the "test oath" as the true test of loyalty. We take the same position in regard to Mr. Seward or any other prominent Northern conservative.

The acts and sayings of the President and Mr. Seward go to show precisely the contrary. But certain expressions have fallen from both of them, by which their opponents have forced upon them this meaning. Now, we understand this to be their real meaning: The President and Mr. Seward regard the "test oath" as the law of the land, and until repealed or declared unconstitutional, must be enforced. Hence, they preferred, in order to an early settlement of the difficulty, that the Southern people should send delegates to Congress who could take the "test oath." No one ever expected the President to over-ride the law and force delegates upon the Congress, though it is well known that he held and now holds, that Congress has no rightful authority to pass laws for the purpose of keeping them out. This is his position and none other. He has never endorsed the "test oath" as a test of loyalty, nor does Mr. Seward, but regards it, nevertheless, as the law, and until lawfully abrogated, must be obeyed.

Again, Robt. P. Dick, Esq., of Guilford, though we are sorry to say, he acts with those of different views in other respects, precisely expresses the views of the President and of the true Conservative men in the land, when he said in his late speech in the Convention and in Randolph, that his test of loyalty, was "present loyalty, honest and sincere." Such is our test and we know no other.

The following important and interesting facts, we clip from the Petersburg Index:

We state, on the authority of the most distinguished names among whom those who have inaugurated this movement, that the purpose of the approaching Convention is to organize, in good faith, a party for the Constitution.—On the same authority we state that there is an honest desire to waive all differences arising out of the past, and to take frankly and cordially by the hand any and all men who desire the restoration of Constitutional government and the support of the President's policy of restoration.

Col. Caldwell is pursued and assailed by the minions of Gov. Worth, solely on account of his Union principles. He was proscribed from office as a Director on this account, and some traitor is no doubt to fill his place as President of the Western N. C. Road.—Standard.

So far as Gov. Worth or the Sentinel are included in the above, we pronounce the statement false. We defy the Standard to make good its oft-repeated declaration, made without the shadow of proof, that any man is pursued or assailed in this State for his Union principles. The so-called "Union principles" have become the cloak for all the meanness, chicanery and total inefficiency, perpetrated by the "so-called" Union men. The Sentinel has not alluded to the "Union principles" of Mr. Caldwell, but to his strong proclivity for Radical principles; and, as to his connection with the Railroad, solely on account of his inability to manage the Road.

There is no infamy in the history of the blood iest tyrants that have disgraced our race more infamous in spirit than the proposition of the Hon. Luke P. Poland, Senator from Vermont, presented on Friday last in the U. S. Senate and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

It provides that in any action of tort to person or property done between April 13, 1861, and July 1, 1865, it shall be lawful to plead or give in evidence in bar of said action:

1. That at the time when the wrong was committee the plaintiff was disloyal to the government of the United States.

2. That the plaintiff was engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States.

3 That the plaintiff aided and comforted, and sympathized with the rebels and insurgents against the government of the United States.

4 That the plaintiff applies for and, obtained pardon from the President, relieving him of the penalties of treason.

The establishment of either point shall be a good defence.

From New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21.—All the reports of the persecution of Union men, the treatment of the blacks and extensive secret societies existing in this city and State, which are now being circulated by letter writers, are without foundation or fact.

Political affairs are quiet. The delegation to the National Convention at Philadelphia are preparing to leave.

The Prussian soldier's daily ration consists of half pound of meat, a sufficient quantity of vegtables and bread, coffee, a little brandy and some cigars.

A negro murderer was hung a few days ago in Richmond and Greely, ever on the watch for an "outrage on the blacks," forthwith smelt outrage.

Thereupon he demands of General Terry an investigation into the propriety of the sentence by which these Virginia rebels thus disposed of "a man and a brother." Horace will probably feel a little foolish when he learns that the negro was hung by Terry's order.

Forney urges the admission of Colorado and Nebraska into the Union, on the express ground that it would bring more Radicals in Congress. Everything yields to party considerations!

The Late Convention and its Proposed Constitution.

The following letter, which originally appeared in the Wilmington Journal, has been forwarded to us by a friend, with a request for its publication. The points discussed are handled with great ability:

July 2nd., 1866.

My Dear Sir:

* * * * * * * I need hardly assure you that my opinion concurs with yours on "the basis of representation," and that, without any reference to the "Statistics" as operating upon the preponderance of numbers in the representation of the different sections of the State. I was well enough satisfied with the previous provisions of our Constitution on this subject, in their practical effect, and would have been content to abide by them still. But I must own that, as things have changed in regard to the negroes, those provisions would not now rest on a principle sound in theory. Yet I think them more sound than the one you adopted in Raleigh. Under our Republican system it seems right that one branch of the Legislature ought to represent persons. When that is said, the question arises "what persons?" I say all; because all are equally affected by the laws that may be enacted. I do not mean that all are to vote for representatives; for my opinion is quite to the contrary. All free men ought to have equal civil rights: that is, security in person and property by the Constitution and the laws made under it. These are natural rights inherent in freedom, and such security is not only due to all persons, as their right, but is essential to the peace and welfare of the body politic. But, as to political rights or powers, which are the same things, the considerations are totally different. They consist, not in the rights above mentioned as held under the law, but of the powers over the Constitution and laws,—to make or alter them,—which principally consist of the rights of being delegated to make the laws or to choose the delegates.—That power or right is not a natural one, but conventional, and according to the sense of the community of the fitness of particular classes for the exercise thereof, regard being had to the homogeniety of the classes, the safety of the existing government, and the security, in person and property, of the most numerous, intelligent, virtuous, and valuable portion of the population. These reasons have always excluded women and minors, of the most favored race, from the exercise of political powers in all countries, and do still exclude them; it being deemed impolitic and unsafe to confide such powers to those persons. The same reasons necessarily exclude negroes now, and ought to do so for a long time to come, if not forever. But the enquiry still presents itself, whether, though not voting, they are not, properly, to be included in the estimate of population, when population is assumed as the proper basis of representation? It seems to me that they ought. I agree that "the Federal basis," as it was called, the enumeration of a certain proportion of them as fixing the representation, is gone; that provision was founded on peculiar circumstances and reasons, which have ceased to be applicable either to the Federal or State representatation. But what other provision ought to take its place? There are but two that can be reasonably thought of, if numbers are to regulate representation to any extent; and they are, first, the number of voters, or, secondly, the number of people. Your Convention, so called, has adopted neither, but, instead of it, says the number of a certain class of the people, namely: the whites in each County, shall regulate the number of representatives of the County; thus making white women, married or unmarried, and infants, a part of the basis of representation. I do not compisin that those portions of our white people are thus included. But I ask why they are included, and why they ought to be included?—The answer is plain, that, though non-voters, they are as much bound by the laws that may be made, and, therefore, as much interested in them, as the white men who did vote for the delegates; and, therefore, the delegates ought to be men who are their neighbors, know their wants and condition, and sympathize with them both in their wants and wishes; and hence, the number of those who represent such people ought to be in proportion to the people of the County, so as, in fact, to represent the whole people, and guard the interests of all, whether voters or not. This is the principle on which your body rejected the voters as the criterion of the number of representatives, and took as the criterion the whole white population, including both voters and non-voters. My objection is, that black free persons were not also included,—not as voters, but as fixing the representation in point of numbers. Every reason for including white women and infants applies with equal force to the blacks, and some of them with greater force. For example: the great burdens of Governments in modern times are taxation and military service; in the latter, women are not concerned; in the former, married women but little, and in poll taxes, not at all, whether married or single. Now it most materially concerns blacks, what poll taxes shall be levied, how they shall be apportioned to property taxes, and to what amount they shall be carried.—Upon these questions surely those who live where the negroes are most numerous, who know their means, their willingness and their ability to pay this or that tax, are best qualified to judge what revenue can be raised from them, what they cannot or will not willingly pay, or what cannot be exacted without grievous distress and oppression. So with respect to military service, whether they may be safely trusted in it now, or at a future day; whether they shall or shall not be trained to arms, either by compulsion or by permission; again, whether they shall be educated, as they may be able, and as their own voluntary act, or at the public expense; and from what sources the revenue, needed for the purpose, shall or ought to be drawn. These, besides many other points, are vital questions to the negroes, on which those living among them must be better informed; and the representation from the County ought to embrace as many, in proportion to others, as will bring the largest share of the required knowledge, guard the right of these people, keep clear the way for their advancement, and make them as happy as their subordinate and dependent condition will allow. It seems to me, therefore, that your body adopted the very worst basis of representation that could have been selected, both in respect of the white and black classes; and I think it, of itself, an entirely sufficient ground for the popular rejection of the Constitution, so-called, by all the citizens of the State, and especially by those who reside in those portions of the State in which the blacks are numerous.

But I ask the liberty of expressing further and more general reasons for the opinion I entertain that the so-called Constitution is no Constitution at all, and, for that reason, ought to be rejected without regard to its provisions, whether good or bad, approved or disapproved. I do not know your opinion on this point, as I have not read much of your proceedings. * * * * * * * * *

I will, therefore, proceed to state my views for your consideration—hoping that they will meet your approbation, or, if not, that you will favor me with yours in opposition, that I, too, may have both sides before me, and be, myself, brought back to the right path from which I may have strayed.

I consider, that this is no Constitution, because your convention was not a legitimate convention, and had no power to make a Constitution for us, or to alter that which we had and have; and that it cannot be made a Constitution, even by popular sanction. If these positions be correct, it ought to be rejected by the people, as the easiest, simplest, and most efficient method of settling the points at rest, and avoiding many perplexing and dangerous questions before the Judiciary. I object to the organization of your body as a Convention, because it was called without the consent of the people of North Carolina, by the President of the United States, or under his orders; an act of clear and despotic usurpation, which could not give the body any authority to bind the State or its inhabitants. If it be said the President, or his satrap,—his Governor of a Province—did not call, or rather constitute the Convention, but the delegates were elected by the people, and thereby the body was duly constituted, I deny it directly and positively. The delegates were not the choice of the people; for in the proclamation calling it, the qualifications of the persons who might be eligible, and those of the persons who might vote for them, were strictly presented in a manner variant from our fundamental law, and excluding from each class a large portion—some would say the best portion—of our qualified citizens. In many cases our people were not represented, but, in fact, were misrepresented. The acts of such a body cannot be said to be those of the people of the State. They are not entitled to obedience, and cannot be, or, at least, ought not to be, judicially recognized. The whole proceeding arose out of arbitrary assumption, overthrowing all notions of popular government, and destructive of the very first principles of Republican freedom; and when it is put up to the people for their sanction, or rejection, then let every man who was excluded from voting for a delegate say: "No! I had no voice in making it—in choosing the men who did make it, and I wish not now to be dragooned into its adoption;" and let every man whose neighbor or friend was thus excluded also say: "No! the best men in the country were not allowed a voice in constituting the Convention or electing its members, and I will not sanction their ostracism by fixing on them a Constitution—an unalterable law—imposed on them by a body in which they were not heard, and from which they were expressly excluded by irresponsible military power or its subordinate and servile instruments;" and let every citizen of North Carolina, too, say: "No! I scorn and reject an instrument tendered to me under the name of a Constitution of North Carolina which the people of North Carolina did not make, and which was made for them by men in the guise of our representatives, who were not our representatives, but those of a power exercising at the time the authority of a conqueror in military possession of our territory, and arrogating to itself the right of superseding all our civil offices and abrogating our laws." Let the people cry: "We will have nothing to do with such a Convention or any Constitution proposed by it. If the Constitution needs amendment (and we do not inquire into that now,) we will, at the proper time, a time of quiet, and one when the reason of every man will have its due play and office, choose good men, at a free election, and by the voice of all our people, who shall revise and amend that instrument. In other words, we will make a Constitution for ourselves, and not another for us!" But supposing that in the quasi revolutionary condition of the last year the military power of the conqueror was either according to natural and national law, or by usurpation, competent to the power exercised on this subject, and that our people, avoiding further resistance, chose rather to submit to such usurpation and acquiesce in its behests. Yet surely, surely, the Body organized by the conqueror, under the name of a Convention, cannot in its acts validly transcend the authority conferred on it when it was called, and assume to perform the very highest of all delegated power, that of framing a Constitution of government, in respect of all the powers which can be conferred, and of all the restrictions which can be imposed, by a people on all the different departments of government. Yet such is the fact here. Mr. Johnson required a Convention to perform certain specific acts; to annul the ordinance of secession and tender a return to the Union, or claim its continued existence under the Constitution of the United States; to emancipate the slaves and ordain that slavery shall never hereafter exist in this State, and to repudiate the State "war debt." All these were done; the two first promptly, and in satisfactory terms; and the third, at the last moment, under dictation and in conformity to orders, after having once refused to adopt the measure. All was done, I say, that was required, and Mr. Johnson proclaimed that he had got all he wanted; that we were back as a State and might choose our representatives in Congress in conformity to our rights as a State, and to our law regulating elections. Was there any thing more for that Convention to do? Were they chosen for any other purpose, even by those who were allowed to vote for the members?—How dare they, then, go on to frame a Constitution, a law, for all time, which is to be binding on those who elected them for other ends, and also on that large portion of the patriots and heroes—"unpardoned rebels"—who were not allowed to vote at all? The presumption is without parallel or precedent, until the present term of Radical assumption of power in a dominant military or a numerical majority, without respect for rights or the Constitution. As far as they safely can, and whenever they can, the people ought to resist that pretension. This they can peacefully do, when called on and allowed to vote; and I trust they will do so on this occasion without commotion, in support of the great principle of human liberty—that a people have the right to make their own Constitution, and not be made subject to one imposed on them, by force or fraud, by any extraneous power, or by a fraction of their fellow-citizens.

You will perceive, that I have hitherto discussed this subject, as depending on the original and natural rights of our people, unaffected by any provision of our pre-existing Constitution; and, even on that basis, I deny the authority of your Convention to make or propose a new or modified form of government for us.—But the clause in our Constitution, touching its amendment, or the call for a Convention for that purpose, is so clear and so precise against any such Convention as we have had, as to put the point beyond doubt or argument, as it seems to me. Two modes of amending the Constitution are provided: One through the agency of the General Assembly, proposing an amendment for ratification by a vote of the people, which need not be considered here; the other, by a Convention called in a manner prescribed in the Constitution, which is the matter now for consideration. It is obvious, that, in prescribing these two, all other modes are excluded by irresistible inference. In respect to a Convention, the words are, "No Convention of the people shall be called by the General Assembly unless by the concurrence of two thirds of all the members of each House of the General Assembly." In either case, the regularly constituted authority of the organized government is required to initiate an alteration of the government, which was no doubt, upon the sound principle laid down in the Rhode Island case, in order to avoid popular commotions, revolutions, and uncertainty as to what is the Constitution. If, then, the two modes designated are the only ones by which the Constitution can be altered, it is clear that this last—so-called Convention was not a Constitutional Convention, and therefore its acts are void.

Yielding then, that Mr. Johnson's and Mr. Holden's Convention might, by popular acquiescence, adopt for us the measures demanded by them, yet it had no existence as a Convention of the people of North Carolina under their Constitution, and could not, therefore, alter that instrument in any of these points which affect our internal organization as a distinct republican State; for example, the basis of representation, the qualifications of the representatives, and of the voters; the number and jurisdiction of courts; the appointment of the judges thereof; the tenure of their office, and that of the executive, or the like. No disquisition can render these points clearer than the short and simple paragraph of the Constitution itself. The conclusion can only be evaded by establishng as a truth that the clause of the Constitution was no longer in force, and that position cannot be true, unless it be also admitted that no other part of it was in force, or, in other words that, by vigue of the war and its results, we were a people without law or Constitution of any sort. It necessarily comes to that, and that never ought to be, and never can be, yielded. Perhaps it might be sufficient for our present purposes to say that even your Convention does not assert such a doctrine, but plainly proceeds upon a contrary one, by professing to "amend" our old Constitution, as still subsisting, and not to make one aborigine, and by designating the old laws still in force as contra distinguished from those passed by Legislatures sitting under the auspices of secession. Indeed, it is impossible, under any aspect of any law, as understood among civilized nations, and in modern times, that a whole people can be treated or considered as being without any law or ministers of the law, even by conquerors. The security of person, and the rights of property, and the obligation of contracts still subsist. Can it, for instance, be supposed for a moment that on the death of a proprietor, there is no rule of succession to his real and personal estates, and that the first occupant may appropriate them, or that nobody can? On the contrary, I say, that the laws of North Carolina were still her laws, including her fundamental law, and if so, it is then to be deduced, that there could be no Convention to abrogate or to alter that law, unless called and chosen in the manner prescribed in it, and that, as a corrollary, your Convention had no power in the premises, and its pretended powers and acts ought not to be confirmed by the people, if the people could confirm them, but ought to be opposed and rejected. It would seem, that that body was aware of the defect of its powers, from the submission of those acts to the people, thus seeking the requisite confirmation. But, in truth, such confirmation cannot be derived from that source; for the same provision in the Constitution, which makes the Convention a nullity, equally excludes the efficiency of a popular majority to annul one Constitution and make another. As the act of a people living under a constituted Government, even the vote of the majority is proprio vigore ineffectual, without the assent of the subsisting Constitutional Government, and its directions for taking the vote and ascertaining the majority. Without such previous authority and regulations, the majority, if physically able, may overthrow the existing Government, but it can only do so by revolution, and not as possessing a legitimate delegated office and power. I need not, however, dilate further on this topic, as the grounds and authorities on which the doctrine depends are, according to my recollection, set forth in the argument and opinion given by the Supreme Court in Dorr's case. Then, if a people of a State cannot, by their own direct vote, abrogate or make a Constitution, without the previous sanction of authority in power under the existing Government, as in Dorr's case, much less can they do it when the Constitution then subsisting specially provides two other modes for effecting these purposes and excludes all besides, which is our case.

We arrive then, at these results: that the Convention was not constitutional; it had no powers and could not make a Constitution; that for the same reason the people have no powers, and that as neither the Convention nor the people had any power in the premises, by consequence, both together are equally destitute of the requisite power. The Convention was an unauthorized body, and therefore, no more than a voluntary collection of so many men—a caucus, recommending to the people to adopt by their vote a certain instrument as our Constitution, a thing which the people, under our Constitution, are not competent to do on that recommendation, and, therefore, the conjoint resolutions and votes of the two bodies have no more effect than that of either by itself. I conclude it is no Constitution, and cannot be made one by what has been done, or can be done now.

What, then, does it behoove the people to do? They ought, it seems to me, promptly and decisively to reject the whole project. If it be suggested, that, in our experience, all Conventions, since those of '76, which formed our original Constitution, have regularly made them worse and worse, and, therefore, we had better take this than run further risks, and especially that, at least, those who approve of the alterations shall give their suffrage for adoption. I reply no! The great principle of political and civil liberty, that a people may, and ought to make a Constitution and Government for themselves; that in so doing they ought to be careful to proceed in the regular and peaceful method which is prescribed, instead of an unauthorized, irregular and usurped mode, from which uncertainty as to the validity of their doings, and consequent commotions arise, furnish the strongest reasons why every man should give his voice against the instrument now proposed, and wait for the action of the Legislature, in the proposing of amendments to the people, or the duly calling of a Convention which would have legitimate power to adopt them.

Let me here adduce a case, which I ought to have added to the efficiency of the popular vote per se. I adduce it because it is level to the apprehensions of every one, and exhibits in a strong light the correctness of the argument against the popular power—a mere majority—over the Constitution of a nation. The case to which I allude, is that of the Government of the United States. The Constitution there specifies the modes of amendment; intended to protect minorities against superior numbers. Now, suppose, upon this assumption, that the people may do as to them listeth, and that the majority of the people are the people, an attempt were made to alter the Federal Constitution, by a vote of the whole population of the United States,—what sort of a constitution should we have—who could endure it, especially at the South—who would endure it, and hold it to be a Constitution? So it is under the provisions of our State Constitution. Then let our people with one voice reject it. That will quiet everything, and we may begin anew, in a lawful way, to make the Constitution what we wish it. But, if approved by the people and proclaimed by the Governor, all the questions upon the validity of the instrument and the powers of the Convention arise—questions affecting the right to all the old and the new offices, and the objections of the so-called Constitution—no bounds can be set to the disquietude incident to them, nor to the embarrassments of the Judiciary.

I have now, I believe, said all that I have to say on these subjects. I owe you an apology for the desultory mode of presenting them, on the spur of the occasion of receiving your letter, and without premeditation as to arrangement, expressions, &c.

Fourth Congressional District.

The Convention for this District, to select delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, assembled in the Court-House, in this City, this morning.

Jones Fuller, Esq., of Franklin, presided, and Seaton Gales, of Wake, acted as Secretary.

Hons. R. B. Gilliam and A. H. Arrington were selected as the delegates for the District.

Proceedings to-morrow.

A MEETING of the Merchants and business men of the City of Raleigh, for the purpose of paying proper respect to the memory of the late James McKimmon, Sr., was held in the Court House on Tuesday afternoon, July 24.

T. H. Selby, Esq., was called to the Chair and Mr. S. H. Young requested to act as Secretary.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed a Committee to report resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, viz: Messrs. Jesse Brown, P. F. Pescud and L. E. Heartt; who, through Mr. Brown, submitted the following:

WHEREAS, This meeting has learned with profound regret, of the death of our esteemed townsman, James McKimmon, Sr., and whereas, we deem it proper to put on record our appreciation of his worth, while living, and our regard for his memory, now that he has departed from our midst; therefore

Resolved, That we deplore, as a public bereavement, the dispensation of Providence, which has removed our friend and fellow-citizen from his sphere of usefulness in this community.

Resolved, That as a citizen and a Merchant of long standing, he deservedly enjoyed universal respect and confidence, and that his unswerving integrity and devotion to the interests of the City of Raleigh, are worthy of emulation, and entitle his memory to be long respected and cherished.

Resolved, That we tender to the family our condolence in this, their heavy affliction, and earnestly commend them to the keeping of that God who has promised to be "a Father to the fatherless, and a friend to the orphan."

Resolved, That, as a tribute of respect to the deceased, we will attend his funeral to-morrow, in a body, and that our respective places of business be closed from 5 o'clock P. M., for the remainder of the day.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be sent to the family of the deceased, and published in our City papers.

Which were unanimously adopted; and then on motion, the meeting adjourned.

THE COMMUNICATION of "Justice" shall appear to-morrow.

DON'T FORGET the grand Concert, on Friday night, in behalf of the Ladies' Memorial Association.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—We ought to have stated long ago, that letters or packages sent to the Sentinel, are delivered to us free of charge to any one, by the polite attentions, both of the officers of the Southern and National Express Companies. We are indebted to both, but very largely to the Southern Express Co. May they both live and prosper, till the last trumpet sounds!

WE ARE under renewed obligations to Mr. C. G. Coleman, jr., of the National Express Co., for papers in advance of the mails.

A WRITER in the Wilmington Journal nominates Col. Edward Hall, for the Senate, and Hon. S. J. Person and Sol. I. Faison, Esq., for the House of Commons, of the next Legislature, from New Hanover County.

THE Ashville News says that more than sixty pupils have already entered the Holston Conference Female College in that town,—an auspicious beginning.

HONOR TO WHOM IS DUE.—A writer in the Raleigh Sentinel has been lauding Gov. Worth for the provision made to supply our crippled soldiers with artificial legs. We have no doubt that the crippled soldiers will always find in Gov. Worth a friend, and that the Governor's sympathies are as keen as most men's for the afflicted and distressed from any cause.

But the honor, or credit, or what we may please to call it, of inaugurating the movement which led to the supply of our gallant, crippled soldiers with good serviceable legs, belongs to another gentleman. The measure was not recommended by the Governor. It originated with one of our representatives in the Convention—Judge Manly.

We happen to know something of the history of this movement. When first started by Judge Manly, the idea was discouraged by men who thought and acted with him, as tending to confirm prejudices as to their loyalty. But the Judge reflected on the matter for a few days, and concluded that it was right and just, and being so ought not to be delayed. The measure was then introduced by him, and he pushed it through.—Newbern Commercial.

GOOD NEWS.—The Nashville Press and Times of Wednesday last has the following:

One of the bolters from Middle Tennessee received a letter, a few days prior to his departure from this city, from Hon. Edmond Cooper, private secretary of the President, advising him to absent himself from his seat in the General Assembly, that the amendment to the Constitution might be defeated at all hazards! This is reliable, and no mistake.

The Agent of the Associated Press in Washington, says that when the Atlantic Cable shall have been put into operation, the expense of two messages a day from London of twenty words each, will be two thousand dollars a week to the newspapers receiving Associated Press dispatches.

Mr. Boynton, Chaplain of the House of Representatives, made a political speech in the Hall of that body on Sunday last. By way of variety it was called a sermon. The Hall is not allowed to cool even on Sundays.

Public Meeting in Johnston.

Accotding to previous notice, a public meeting of the citizens of Johnston County was held at the Court House, in Smithfield, on Monday, the 23rd inst., for the purpose of appointing delegates to represent Johnston County in the District Convention to be held in the City of Raleigh on the 25th inst.

On motion of L. R. Waddell, Esq., Dr. J. B. Beckwith was appointed Chairman, who, on taking the chair, briefly explained the object of the meeting.

On motion, P. T. Massy was requested to act as Secretary.

On motion of Col. Wm. H. Moring, a Committee of three were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting; whereupon, the Chairman appointed Simon Godwin, E. S. Parker and L. Eldridge, Esqs., who retired, and, after a short absence, reported the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, a call for a National Convention to assemble in the City of Philadelphia, on the 14th day of August next, has been made and whereas the avowed object of the said Convention is a free consultation and deliberation of Republicans from every part of the Country, looking to a conciliation of the two sections, so lately engaged in deadly conflict, and to the speedy restoration of the Southern States to their Constitutional rights, privileges, and protection: Therefore,

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Johnston county, do cordially endorse the call for said Convention, and its declared purposes.

Resolved, That we approve and feel grateful for the manly, statesmanlike, and patriotic course of Andrew Johnson, in the administration of the Government of the United States; and that he merits the thanks of good men of all sections for his devotion to the principles of Republican Government, and for his unswerving regard for the Constitution of our fathers.

Resolved, That we regard the radicals of the North, now the dominant power in Congress, as a dangerous element in our midst, and that they are either blinded by prejudice or wilfully corrupt, and that their course is well calculated to subvert the true principles of the government and give rise to the worst apprehensions for the future prosperity of our country.

During the absence of the Committee, L. R. Waddell, Esq., addressed the meeting in a forcible manner. The meeting was also addressed in brief, but appropriate, speeches by Col. Wm. H. Moring and E. S. Parker Esq.

On motion, the Chairman was requested to appoint sixteen delegates to represent this county in the said District Convention; whereupon the chairman appointed the following, (viz) John F. Ellington, Dr. J. T. Leach, Benjamin Godwin, J. G. Hood, Sr., Nathan Williams, David Smith, W. H. Avera, H. H. Finch, C. B. Sanders, K. B. Whitley, Wilie F. Gerald, J. F Pike, M. C. Richardson J. R. Brown, and John W. Lee.

On motion, the Chairman was added to the list of delegates.

On motion, it was ordered that a copy of these proceedings be sent to the Daily Sentinel for publication.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

J. B. BECKWITH, Chair'm.

Public Meeting in Davidson.

At a meeting of citizens of Davidson county, held at the court room, in Lexington, July 23rd., the following proceedings were had:

The meeting was organized by calling Dr. W. D. Lindsay to the chair, and requesting Capt. F. C. Robbins to act as Secretary.

After a brief statement by the Chairman that the object was to appoint delegates to the District meeting to be held in Greensboro, for the purpose of choosing delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, on motion of B. B. Roberts, the following gentlemen were appointed to represent Davidson County in the District meeting: C. F. Lowe, A. Hargrave, A. C. Hege, J. W. Goodwin, Dr. W. D. Lindsay, Capt. F. C. Robbins, B. C. Donthitt, J. W. Thomas, J. H. Thomson, H. Walser, W. Harris and S. Wood.

On motion by Mr. Goodwin, B. B. Roberts was added to the list of delegates.

On motion of Mr. Anthony, the Secretary was directed to send proceedings to the Raleigh Sentinel and Greensboro' Patriot, with the request that they publish.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

W. D. LINDSAY, President.

F. C. ROBBINS, Secretary.

Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, July 22.—The Sheriff of the county forced an entrance to the Capitol yesterday, and arrested Captain Hoydt, the officer of the House, who had in custody Mr. Martin, an absconding member.

Judge Frazier discharged Mr. Martin, and fined Captain Hoydt ten dollars and costs.—Much feeling exists relative to this affair, the House considering it an infraction of their rights, and an insult to their dignity.

Resolutions were passed, reflecting severely upon Judge Frazier for his action in the matter of arrests.

There was no quorum in the House to-day.

The following despatch was sent to Washington by Governor Brownlow yesterday:

NASHVILLE, Friday, July 22, 1866.

To the Hon. W. B. Stokes:

Judge Frazier, in contempt of the House, released Williams and Martin, the bolters, and sent the Sheriff, a Rebel Captain, to arrest Hoydt, Sergeant-at-arms. In the night, the Sheriff, with twenty-five accomplices, broke into the Capitol, forced a window and door in the Federal Court room, and arrested Hoydt. The House will act deliberately.

Congress,—Admission of the Tennessee Representatives,—the President's Views, &c.

WASHINGTON, July 24., P. M.

The President to-day signed the joint resolution admitting Tennessee, but says that the preamble consists of statements, some of which are assumed, while the resolution is merely a declaration of opinion. It comprises no legislation, nor does it confer any power which is binding upon the respective Houses, the Executive or the States. He further says: The right of each House, under the Constitution, to judge of the qualifications of its own members is undoubted, and my approval or disapproval of the resolution could not, in the slightest degree, increase or diminish the authority in this respect conferred on the two branches of Congress; but, earnestly desiring to remove every cause of further delay, whether real or imaginary, on the part of Congress, to the admission of the loyal Senators and Representatives of Tennessee, notwithstanding the anomalous character of the proceedings, he affixes his signature to the resolution. At the same time, his approval is not to be construed as an acknowledgment that Congress has the right to pass laws preliminary to the admission of representatives from any of the States nor is it to be considered as committing him to all the statements of the preamble,—some of which are without foundation. Among them he states there is reason to believe the Tennessee legislature has not ratified the late amendment passed by Congress.

Parts of the message were greeted with derisive laughter by the Radicals, and with applause by the Democrats. Subsequently, the Committee on Elections reported favorably on the credentials of the Tennessee members, and, on invitation to come forward to be sworn, Maynard, Taylor and Stokes appeared and took the oath. This was followed by much applause, and the new members received the congratulations of the Speaker and others.

The House Committee reported a bill to pay rewards to the captors of Mr. Davis and of the assassins of Lincoln. Among the amounts given are: captors of Booth and Harold $1750 each; $100 to Maj. Hickman for the capture of Azteroth; captors of Payne form $1,000 down to $250. For the capture of Mr. Davis, $10,000 is given to Col. Pritchard, $720 to each Captain, &c.

The Senate adopted an amendment to the miscellaneous appropriation bill, increasing the salary of members of Congress to $5,000 per annum.

The Senate did not take up the Tennessee matter.

Gen. Sickles has declined the mission to the Hague, and Gen. Dix has been nominated for the position.

No Family at the South Should be Without Them.

The late Col John Wright, of Goldsboro', N. C. Aug. 14, 1862, says: "I have used the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS in my family here, and also on my plantation in Alabama, and always with success. I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity I was induced to try the Hepatic Pills. A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast supersceding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve, have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in pe fect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disenfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhœa Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this Sarsaparilla, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Female Diseases are caused by Scrofula in the blood and are often soon cured by this Extract of Sarsaparilla.

Do not discard this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used Ayer's—then, and not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which the agents below named will furnish gratis to all who call for it.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain or Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and for a Dinner Pill.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.
